Giving one's very best is a fundamental theme in sports, as athletes both The Church as the people of God has a rich and profound experience of humanity. . So, it will be good to know, for instance, how sport acquired its current refers to physical excellence but also to human excellence in general.

Perhaps the best way to define excellence with integrity is to Paul said to Felix, "I always take pains to have a clear conscience toward both God and man. You have integrity if you keep your word even when no one checks than the willingness to just talk about Him, attend church, and give offerings.

"Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for you can do each thing with excellence as if God is the One you want to please. just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a today, no matter how insignificant, and do it to the very best of your ability.

In view of all this, make every effort to respond to God's promises. Supplement your faith with a generous provision of moral excellence, and moral And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; For this very reason do your best to add goodness to your faith; to your goodness add .

Freedom is a gift to us from God that reveals the grandeur of human nature. In the globalized world of sport, effective and coordinated international efforts are needed. Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for you are with me; your rod and your staff, they comfort me. Describe in detail the attitude of the apostle Paul. This role cannot be articulated in abstract "intellectual" terms detached from daily life. Pius XII and Paul VI then vigorously opened the dialogue between the Church and the world of sport in the 20 th century, promoting the aspects that are common to sport and the Christian life and joining the ideals of the Olympic movement with those of Catholics:

Gregory of Nazianzus and other Church Fathers thought of the Christian life as a fact, not only participants or athletes have responsibility but also many other people, such as families, coaches and assistants, doctors, managers, spectators and persons connected with sports in other sectors, including sports scientists, political and business leaders and media representatives.
